A unique fusion of music, architecture, archaeology & nature

In just three short years, the Marvão International Music Festival has established itself as one of the most exciting new ventures on the European classical music scene – but without regular public funding, we now face a challenge if we want it not only to survive but to thrive.

We are looking for passionate individuals to help ensure its future, through joining our new Patrons Circle.

Through your support, you will help FIMM become one of the leading classical music Festivals in the world, a symbol of pride for Portugal, and a beacon of understanding, beauty and multi-national cooperation through the Arts.

In return for your support, you will enjoy unparalleled access to the artists behind the festival, as well as unique insights into the Festival's future plans.

“We feel ourselves privileged, because there is a magical, almost unreal symbiosis. These are unforgettable moments, like those that make us believe, with optimism, in the future of Humanity.”

Future Plans

With your support, we can plan for the future.

We aspire:

- To build a strong base of support from individuals, companies, trusts and foundations to ensure that the Festival becomes sustainable in the long-term and is able to continue attracting world-class musicians, both from within Portugal and internationally.
- Drawing on the incredible biodiversity of the region, to create, through the Festival, a unique 'laboratory' where musicians and artists can interact with natural scientists of all kinds, leading to new kinds of collaboration.
- To launch the Marvão International Academy for Music, Arts and Science, bringing together experts and students from across the world.

A photograph of a string quartet performing in front of a white church with a stone facade and a bell tower. The musicians are silhouetted against the bright sky. The church has a central window with a decorative frame and a cross on the roof. The scene is set outdoors on a cobblestone street.
